I have a DataGridView control that I want to put a tooltip on a cell. I've gotten pretty much everything working as expected, including the CellFormatting event, except I don't want to use the System.Windows.Forms.Data GridView.CellToolTipText property. Instead, I want to be able to set a custom property on the DataGridView control, or an attached property on the cell that will allow me to use the same technique I already have in place.

To do that, I want to be able to inspect the DataGridView cell's FormattingElement property to find the last child that is a RichTextBox or RichTextBlock.
That is how I can find the CellToolTipText property,
