Additional guidance for public sector procurement The Bank's procurement team implements procurement strategies to effectively monitor and respond to its business needs. The Bank recognizes the importance of a broad range of stakeholders, including civil society organizations, for transparency and accountability in the procurement process. However, key aspects of procurement are often managed in highly confidential, internal settings, and these, which cannot be made public, should be carefully managed, documented, and monitored. Read the additional guidance section in the Financial Sector External Accountability page. Acquisitions are conducted by the Bank to deliver services and/or goods (including those that support public-private partnerships), and are either internal (internal buy) or external (external buy). Acquisitions are internal when the Bank makes the contract directly with the supplier, and external when the contract is assigned to the external organization. Approvals (if any) are required for submitting an invitation for expressions of interest. In order to submit an expression of interest, the company must be a legal entity with a registered office in a contracting state, as well as fulfill all eligibility requirements. To be eligible, the company must be a company, a partnership, a government or public body, a diplomatic mission, and any natural person or legal person organized under a special law or having an exclusive representative in this state. A prospective bidder that is granted confidential treatment in accordance with the terms of the tender should not be able to be discriminated against or disadvantaged in comparison with a prospective bidder that does not receive confidential treatment. Since, however, public sector bidders, and bidders with agency and public law companies can be disadvantaged, those exclusions should be strictly construed. 5ec8ef588b
